Cutter Bear Returning Without Castaway.

NOME, ALASKA, September 1.—The revenue cutter "Cutter" left Nome on July 24 to rescue the eighteen crewmen, three Esquimo men and one Esquimo woman, who found shelter on Wrangell Island after Captain F. C. Canadian exploring ship became wrecked last January. On returning to Nome without the castaways.

The party set out to find the men who had been lost, and after a long search, found the cutter again.

The cutter was unable to get into port because of the ice, so the crew had to wait until the ice was gone.
